

MOTHER INDIA PROJECT 2013-2014

Individual Workshop with Shobha in India (GOA)

RAJASTHANI GIRLS

They are without shoes and walk in the hot road, Rajasthani girls are full of color, liquid eyes as pure water, they ask us a pass to go to the Calangute, a village 7 miles, we stop

From that moment, born a meeting sweet and full of stories, Silvia Fiore, meet them again later ...

They move in tribes, walk from Rajasthan for the tourist season in search of work.

Shobha

They are a tribe of women / girls. Their origin is Rajasthan, but their home could be their constant travel. They sell bracelets on the street and covered with colored veils. In their eyes, and in their gestures, there is the ancient and dusty harshness of the desert and the beauty of light. They are all the colors together.

Silvia Fiore Bernardi

SILVIA FIORE BERNARDI

Silvia Fiore Bernardi, was born in Milan and graduated in art semiotics at the DAMS of Bologna.

She attended a workshop with Shobha in Palermo in 2012 and 2013 in India.